

This review is about the book "All I want" written by Margaret Johnson, that I have recently read as a part of our Christmas homework.

It's a very easy to read love story. I mean, the plot is not complicated, there are no more than ten characters and the vocabulary used is very usual, I only have to look for a few words on the dictionary.

The plot is about something happened to the main character, who is an enthusiastic thirty aged woman, and how her feelings changes in only two or three days, all involved in a semi-comical atmosphere.

I really recommend this book, in case people want to improve their reading speed or if they don't have a lot of time to read.
