Kayaking in Kumano

The Kumano area of Japan is a great place to kayak. The bright blue rivers are beautiful and calm. Tourists can travel down the rivers and see the countryside of Japan. There are small hotels and guest houses on the way. Or, you can camp beside the water.

Kayaking on the Kumano is a good activity for children. You can do it with the whole family. The river moves slowly, so it is not dangerous for young or old travelers. Spend time with people you love!

Of course, people who like kayaking and swimming can enjoy the cool water. There are also other activities. At Kawayu Onsen, hot water comes up in the river. People can have warm baths and relax. There are also good restaurants and cafés along the way. Some people like hiking in the forests of Kumano.

It is not expensive to visit the Kumano area. Plane tickets can cost a lot of money, but look for a deal. Kayak rental, hotels, and food are good prices.

You can travel by plane to Osaka. Then, travel by train to Gojo. After that, take the bus to the Kumano area. There are trains and buses in the morning, afternoon, and evening, so you can travel at all different times of day.
