

Sleepy Hollow

The origin of these legend is that the American soldiers beheaded a hessian soldier and the ghost of that soldier is haunting the woods with other dead soldiers

During the Revolution War, the local woods of Sleply Hollow became extremely dangerous. The soldiers behead a Hessian soldier, they buried him in an unmarked grave.

People in villages like Sleepy Hollow believe it is possible to find a ghost of a headless horseman in the woods.

People still go there to see the headless horseman, but there are a lot of ghosts there of other soldiers and there is a ghost ship. It sails in the moonlight and when people see it they run away because it means danger.
