A Week in Salisbury ✨

From October 21st to 27th, the third-year ESO students took a trip to Salisbury, a city in southern England. The main objective was to improve our English and learn about British culture. To do this, we stayed with host families.

After our flight on Tuesday, we arrived in Salisbury in the afternoon and our host families picked us up. Wednesday began with a placement test and a short presentation at the school. In the afternoon, we took a guided tour of Salisbury's most emblematic sites, including its cathedral.

On Thursday and Friday, we attended English classes in the morning, and in the afternoon, we visited Stonehenge, where we were able to see one of the world's most famous prehistoric monuments up close. We also enjoyed a bowling session, which allowed us to have fun as a group.

On Saturday, we traveled to Oxford, where we took a guided tour of some of its historic colleges. On Sunday we visited Winchester, a city full of charm and history. Monday was our last day of classes, and finally, that afternoon we began our journey home. Not only did we improve our English, but we also met new people and discovered amazing places... I highly recommend it; in my opinion, it was a fantastic experience where we enjoyed every moment.
