

The dance school

Once upon a time there were two girls named Sheila and Carla, who loved to dance.

One day they decided to join a dance school so that they could have a fun time together.

The first day in the dance school it looked as if they were going to have too much fun.

That's how it was, until after a month of going strange things began to happen and things disappeared. People said that maybe it was someone who was dedicated to stealing or something like that. A week after this started to happen, Carla found Sheila lying in the locker room, apparently someone had left her unconscious. That wasn't all, because Sheila had a cut on her belly.

Carla immediately called the ambulance and they didn't take long to arrive.

Sheila was taken to the hospital and spent some weeks there. During this time the police were doing an investigation to find out what had happened, who had done that to Sheila? Why?

After a long investigation by the police, they managed to arrest the person who did that and they discovered that Sheila had been a misunderstanding and in reality that man didn't want to hurt her, he wanted to hurt Carla, her ex-girlfriend...
